The Fixed Income Intermediate Aggregate composite was created on and has an inception date of July 31, 2005. The composite seeks to provide a real return over a long period of time to commensurate with the risk profile of the portfolio. The composite pursues these objectives by investing primarily in income-producing securities, while seeking to minimize tax consequences for the portfolios. The composite utilizes the Bloomberg US Intern. Aggregate Index, a widely recognized unmanaged index of bond prices which is representative of a broader market and range of securities than is found in the composite's portfolio. The index does not include the effects of sales charges and cannot be invested in directly.
